NEW BLOOD INDICATES PROGRESS IN RACING

By J. W. MARCHBANK

In purchasing the promising colt Shining Jewel from the Brookmeade Stable at Santa Anita I have made a move in the direction of demonstrating my faith in the future of the sport in this state. Already in possession of thoroughbreds of fashionable strains I am looking around all the time for replenishment of my stock.

John P. Grier, recalled as the horse that made Man o'War stretch his neck in the Dwyer Stakes, has been the sire of a number of good gallopers in the last few years and my Shining Jewel is no exception in the possession of fleetness of foot. It would seem, too, that the colt will be able to carry his speed over a distance.

The name of the recently acquired three year old is quite an apt one, as he is from Azurite, a daughter of the Epsom Derby winner Sunstar. Azurite is blue malachite, which, as my readers probably know, is capable of a high polish.

Blood flowing in the veins of Shining Jewel is of particular interest to me on account of his sire, the noted John P.Grier, being from the matron Wonder, a daughter of Disguise. Fans familiar with my operations over at the "ranch" (Heather Farm) need not be told that my successful stock horse, King Heather, is a son of Disguise. It's a great blood, that of the Domino line.

The veriest tyro in breeding is aware that the three leading thoroughbred dynasties in this country were founded by Ben Brush, Domino, and Australian. I get some of the Ben Brush strain through Shining Jewel, as his sire, the record breaking Wiskbroom II, is by Broomstick, and a new filly of mine, Arson, is from Broomstick's daughter Shady—so I am gradually building up on Ben Brush.

Winning out there on the racing strip gives a big thrill, but even a bigger one comes from rearing those winners. That is my aim over at Heather Farm, to turn out only the best, the kind that can compete with runners from every part of the world.

PICTURE FROM POPULAR NOVEL

Seldom, if ever, has there been such a combination of elements which mean good entertainment as there are in "Imitation of Life." Manager Attkisson yesterday booked it for the Daly City Theater, for Sunday and Monday, March 10 and 11.

Fannie Hurst's great novel, will interest millions of women. "Back Street" proved that Fannie Hurst understands thoroughly what women like to see in a moving picture. John Stahl in that picture proved that he knew how to transpose to the screen every last ounce of interest which lay in a Fannie Hurst story. There is no director in the world who has this faculty in the same degree that John Stahl possesses it. And he directed "Imitation of Life," also.

Then there is the popularity of Claudette Colbert, who is an ideal heroine for Fannie Hurst's story. John Stahl searched for three months before he was satisfied even with Claudette Colbert. The minute her tests were seen, however, he knew that she was the "Bea" Pullman. A dozen leading men were discarded before John Stahl decided on Warren William. These two are just now being acclaimed for their work in "Cleopatra." The cast supporting them is of real star production.

A new baby star, this time a three year old one, named Baby Jane, plays the tiny daughter and for her work was given a starring contract by Universal. Rochelle Hudson plays the baby grown up, with Alan Hale, Ned Sparks, Henry Armetta, Louise Beavers, Henry Kolker, Alma Tell, G. P. Huntly, Jr., Wyndham Standing and Paul Porcasi.

"West of the Pecos," with Richard Dix and Martha Sleeper is the other attraction.

NAMES TANFORAN TRACK OFFICIALS

Remodeled New Plant Will Be One Of Most Beautiful Tracks In United States

J. W. Marchbank, directing owner of Tanforan, made announcement Monday of this week of the officials for the spring meeting at the home track to begin toward the end of next month. As in the racing period a year ago, Marchbank will be in personal charge of the arrangements for the session, which he anticipates will be the best ever held at the course.

The officials named are as follows:

Stewards of the Meeting: George Schilling, Floyd McKenney; steward representing the California Racing Board, J. K. Macomber.

Placing Judges: Webb Everett, James Gallagher, Peter Clark.

Racing Secretary: Webb Everett.

Starter: Roy Dickerson.

Manager of Mutuel Department: Walter Marty.

Clerk of the Scales: James Gallagher.

Patrol Judges: Ed Thomas, J. C. McGill.

Paddock Judge: J. C. McGill.

Timer: James McDonnell.

Track Superintendent: Jack Dennis.

Track Physician: Dr. F. H. Smith.

Veterinarian: Dr. C. Masoero.

Transformation of the Tanforan plant under the personal supervision of Directing Owner Marchbank into one of the most beautiful race courses in the United States is proceeding expeditiously. Installation of the totalisator is also going along on schedule time. The track has been highly popular ever since the sport was restored there five years ago. It is easily accessible by automobile and street car from San Francisco.

That he has selected a highly popular "official family" for the meeting at Tanforan is apparent to Mr. Marchbank, as scores of telegrams and letters have been received by him congratulating him on his selections. It is an all-California staff.

Former Public Official Pioneer Resident Passes

Silvio A. Landini passed away on Tuesday night after a long illness.

Deceased was an old resident and for almost a quarter of a century was a picturesque and able figure in law enforcement in San Mateo County. He located in Daly City before the town was incorporated in 1911. One year thereafter, in April of 1912, he was elected to the office of City Trustee for a term of two years, and in April, 1914, was re-elected for another two years; but resigned April 17, 1915, to accept appointment from the County Board of Supervisors to the office of constable of the First Township to fill a vacancy caused through the death of Constable Parker. In 1918 he was elected to this office and was in continuous service until December, 1934, when the office of constable was abolished by adoption of the new county charter.

Mr. Landini, or "Sil," as he was affectionately called by his friends, proved to be an excellent peace officer—fearless and upright in his dealings in public affairs.

Among some of his most notable achievements during his long term of office was the solving of the murder of Father Heslein of the Holy Angels Church in Colma. This crime was very mysterious and baffling but Landini succeeded in landing the murderer in San Quentin for a life term. There were other crimes too numerous to mention which were cleared up by him until his name became known to the majority of the people throughout the state.

He was a charter member of Station No. 4, Daly City Fire Department and was an honorary member of that company up to the time of his death. He also organized and retained membership in the Colma Volunteer Fire Department.

S. A. LANDINI

Fuhr and Mrs. S. Roberts, daughters; Arthur Landini, a son, and Billie and Barbara Fuhr, grandchildren. He is also survived by three sisters, Mrs. Armando and Mrs. E. Cuneo of Daly City and Mrs. Badarocco of San Anselmo, and three brothers, Rinaldo Landini of San Leandro and James and Julio Landini of San Francisco. A host of friends mourn his passing.

Services will be held from his late residence at 10:30 this (Friday) morning. Interment at Cypress Lawn Memorial Park.

ATTENDS FUNERAL

Mrs. A. Cortez of 234 Miriam street left, Wednesday afternoon of last week, for Los Angeles to attend the funeral of her mother, Mrs. M. Edward, who passed away after a long illness.

WIN JUDGMENT FOR TRAGIC END IN AUTO MISHAP

Return Verdict For $12,000 In Suit For Damages In Superior Court

A jury in the Superior Court of Judge A. R. Cotton in Redwood City awarded heavy damages to the complaniants for the death of the late Mrs. Elsie Witt in Colma two years ago.

The suit for $53,000 was instituted by the widower, Albert Witt, who was joined therein by three sons—County Supervisor A. J. Witt, and Charles and Walter Witt, and a daughter, Anna Witt Acitman.

The complaint charged negligence on the part of the defendants, Frank Labrucheni John LaCoste, Leon Domescus, owners of the Excelsion ranch, and John Zgreggaus in the operation of a truck owned by the three former, and driven by Zgreggaus.

It was claimed Mrs. Witt was crossing Missio nstreet and was struck and injured by the truck involved in the accident. These injuries resulted in her death several days after the accident.

The case was on trial for three days and the jury was out but a short time before rendering a verdict for damages in favor of the complainants in the sum of $12,000.

DALY CITY FIRE DEPARTMENT BIG ENTERTAINMENT

The committee of arrangements for the benefit to be given for the widows and orphans fund of the Daly City Fire Department reported considerable preliminary progress and called for more help. Besides the ones appointed at the last meeting the chief also appointed the six commissioners on the committee.

If the Jefferson High School Auditorium can be obtained the entertainment will be held there on Saturday evening, April 27.

Chesney advises to hold this night open for yourself and friends, as the tentative plans advanced by the committee call for an entertainment that will be worth double the price of admission.

Watch for further news in regard to this entertainment.

NEW WATER PLANT DISPLAY SUNDAY

City Now Has One Of Finest Systems Of Any In San Mateo County

Citizens of Daly City have been invited to inspect the large new reservoir recently completed on the hill, next Sunday during the hours between 10 to 6 o'clock.

It is claimed this reservoir, which is built in solid rock at an elevation of about 400 feet, and will serve the Vista Grande, Castle Gardens and Colma section of Daly City, will considerably reduce pumping costs.

This splendid work, which was constructed with CWA and SERA labor should prove of great interest to our residents.

Directions for reaching the plant: Turn off Hillside Boulevard opposite Gambetta street and follow the signs. Automobiles can get within one block of the reservoir.

Employees of the water department will be on the ground to explain the construction and workings of this project.

HOME FILLY WINS

When the racing was on at Tanforan about ten years ago a feature one day was a match between Runclar, owned by the late A. B. Spreckels, and Snooksie Bradley, owned by J. W. Marchbank. The filly scored after a gruelling struggle. "Snooksie" has been in the breeding paddock for sometime, which was brought to mind the other day by her daughter, Orra, winning at Santa Anita. Orra is a Scotch word for unemployed but the smart miss was anything but that when outrunning and outgaming a good field at the Los Angeles oval.

LOCAL GIRL JAILED FOR JEWEL THEFT

Mrs. Ivy Willis French, 23, who allegedly left her home at 163A Willits street several weeks ago with jewelry valued at $300 belonging to her adopted mother, was under arrest last week, according to information received from Chief of Police John T. Doyle.

With a companion, Herman Geary, she was apprehended in Long Beach.

The couple were arrested on San Mateo County warrants, charging them with grand theft.

The complaint was filed by Mrs. G. Willis the latter part of last week.

Mrs. French is being held in the county jail at Redwood City to answer to the charge.

DALY CITY BAND TO LEAD PARADE

A parade will be held Friday eve. The Daly City Band will lead the marchers of Olive Grove Druids from the county line by way of Mission street to Colma. Many local bodies will participate in this affair and in the line will be the Eagles Drum Corp and the Green Valley Drum Corp.

Local citizens will not only witness this gala event in seeing the best of the drill teams of the Druids; hear our local band and drum corp furnish music, but will witness the scene of many elaborately decorated floats for this special occasion.

The Druids are staging this parade as a preliminary to a vaudeville show and dance to be given on Saturday evening, at the Colombo Hall, Colma.

MASS MEETING EVOKES INTEREST

Great Enthusiasm Is Shown In Proposed Daly City Improvements

A representative gathering of citizens at a mass meeting at the City Hall Auditorium on Tuesday evening went on record by a rising vote as favoring passage of a bond issue to carry out the projects proposed by the Daly City Recreation and Improvement Club.

The Daly City Band started proceedings by rendering several selections for the entertainment of the audience.

After reading of the projects Mayor H. H. Smith was called on and outlined the proposed improvements in an able and elucidating manner.

The suggestion seemed to predominate that public playgrounds were the paramount issue in various parts of the city.

Each project was taken up separately for discussion and all found many supporters, who stated that the time is now opportune to secure these improvements and stressed the necessity for immediate action.

Much enthusiasm was displayed and those present pledged themselves to work for the fruition of the entire plans.

Meetings of the club will be held every Tuesday evening at the City Hall. Come and lend your aid in improving Daly City.

SENATOR JOHNSON IN LINE FOR HIGH COURT

By J. W. MARCHBANK
Pioneer in Frontier Mining Work

Hardly a daily, weekly, or monthly publication can be perused these days without running across a "yarn" about the not-so-long-ago decision of the United States Supreme Court in the gold cases. As I mentioned last week in this column, some of the press outbursts are of the caustic order, with the writers manifestly not in accordance at all with the modern attitude of the highest tribunal in the land.

More pleasant is the task of glancing over comments, either favorable to the decree ,or at least not bitterly antagonistic. For example in the Hearst papers, Edwin C. Hill, well known by his typed words and over the radio, reviewed the history in the last few decades of the tendency in the Supreme Court to be either ultra-conservative, or liberal, as in late years, and usually by a 5-4 division.

Hill generally held opinion that the court, in its liberal interpretation of laws, leans unmistakably toward human rights, as opposed to property rights. The strict legalism of the years prior to 1930 appeared to have gone forever. The Hearst writer ventures the prediction that quietly and with dignity, the Supreme Court made perhaps the most important fiscal decision in our history and the decision perhaps charts a new course for America under the New Deal.

Jay Franklin, in "Vanity Fair," pertinently points out that Chief Justice Hughes casts the deciding vote in the Supreme Court between the two teams of liberals and conservatives. In regard to misconception as to the habitat of the two groups he says:

"To those hopeful innocents who have been amusing themselves with the theory that liberalism and progressivism come from the West and from the countryside, there is the sobering fact that all four of the conservatives are Westerners and Southerners, small town men from the small colleges.

"It is a little strange that the four liberals come from the conservative East, from the big cities and the big private universities of the capitalistic centers of America."

As to possible appointments by President Roosevelt to the court in the event of resignation or a visit by the Grim Reaper, the "Vanity Fair" writer says that Senator Hiram Johnson of this state is more likely to be offered that final dignity to crown a distinguished career than others that have been mentioned. He believes Johnsonian decisions would follow a middle-road liberalism.

We are glad to read in "Gold" that Canadian mining, with its roots deep in the pre-Cambrian rocks, faces 1935 with a confidence that befits its rugged foundation. The article, written for the sprightly Toronto publication by B. F. Townsley, further calls attention to the fact that last year was the greatest in Canada's gold mining history.

How fast Canada's gold mining industry is growing is shown by cold figures. In 1933, 38 mills, having a total capacity of 24,315 tons, produced $84,400,000 in gold; and in 1934, 84 mills, having a total capacity of 32,000 tons, were in operation, with a consequent larger production.

Foremost among the factors in the increased earnings of mining companies has been the steadily rising price of gold.

The outlook for this year is extremely bright. While the average price for gold last year was $34.53 an ounce in Canadian funds, indications in the last few weeks are it will go beyond $35 an ounce.

Sea Serpent Mystery at Last Solved

Apparently solving the mystery of last summer's sea serpent scare, this huge "Manatee," or sea elephant as it is commonly called, about 18 feet in length and weighing about a ton and a half, was washed ashore near Newport Beach, Calif. The spectators pictured viewing the carcass soon spread the word and in a short time all were agreed that the sea elephant was no doubt what they had mistaken for a sea serpent.

SUPERVISORS OF STATE TO FIGHT HIGHWAY SETUP

Will Endeavor To Defeat State Attempt To Take Over County Roads

Hitting hard at the proposal of Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly to have the state take over all county roads, the County Supervisors Association of California placed the plan under heavy fire at its convention next week in Sacramento.

This was foreshadowed in a statement today by W. O. Russell of Davis, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Supervisors Association. Executive and legislative committees of the association met in Secramento last Friday and Saturday and passed strong resolutions opposing Kelly's plans for centralized state control of all roads. These resolutions received unanimous endorsement at the convention, held March 6, 7, and 8 at Sacramento.

"It is the general opinion among supervisors that this scheme of the state taking over all roads is nothing less than an attempt to establish a vast state political machine through a vertitable dictatorship vested in the State Department of Public Works," Russell declared. "Claims about saving taxpayers $16,000,000 per biennium cannot stand analysis. They are nothing but rubber figures stretched to make a point.

"The fact is that no such sum can be saved unless highway construction and improvement is severely curtailed which certainly should not be done in these times if it can possibly be avoided. Highway work is one of the most effective means of providing employment, and there is plenty of work still to be done before the highway system is completed.

"How Kelly can save such a sum as $16,000,000 each two years he does not reveal, except by the general claim of increased efficiency on the part of the state. In reply to that claim the supervisors are able to present figures showing what state spervision with appointive officials really means as compared with work done by elective county officials.

"Figures for Los Angeles county are typical. The state's expenditure on maintenance per mile amounts to $629.60. Los Angeles county succeeded in doing its maintenance work for $233 per mile, considerably less than one-half the state's cost. Los Angeles has one man employed for each seven miles of road, while the state has a field force on a full time basis of one man per 3.3 miles. Los Angeles county's administrative costs average $19.40 per mile, while those of the state highway commission average $91.25 per mile.

"It must be remembered that the state has 14,000 miles to maintain, much of it highly improved, which should cut maintenance costs. For that purpose the state has about $5,000,000 worth of equipment. The counties, on the other hand, have 65,000 miles of road, much of it of an unimproved nature, and they are maintaining these roads with about the same value of road equipment as the state.

"County supervisors are directly responsible to the people of their county and if they do not do the right thing they can be disciplined by removal from office. The highway commission, which is non-salaried and serves at the pleasure of the governor, is subject to no such control.

"Probably Mr. Kelly will claim that the supervisors are fighting his proposal because it would remove from them some of their political patronage. But by what sort of political magic would the state department of public works be immune to the odium of patronage? It has become so in late years that the director of public works is the most powerful figure in the state administration.

"The supervisors are not going to sit back and passively permit the state department of public works to acquire a dictatorial, centralized jurisdiction over local roads. They believe that those who spend funds for local roads should remain closely responsive to the wishes of the taxpayers. These are some of the reasons why the supervisors will bitterly oppose Mr. Kelly's plan.

WOMAN INJURED IN CAR COLLISION

Florence De Haven of 1377 Geary street, San Francisco, was treated at the Villa Sanitorium for injuries sustained last Monday evening in an auto collision.

Miss De Haven was a passenger in the car of Frank Niemi, who first gave his name as Frank Caswell, 33, 1377 Geary street, San Francisco, when his car struck the parked car of Ranieri Melani, of Garibaldi street, Colma, on San Pedro avenue, opposite Columbo Hall. The impact caused Miss De Haven to sustain painful injuries.

Niemi was arrested following the crash by Officers Hilton and Sunderland and charged with reckless driving and lodged in the city jail. He was fined $50 in Judge Ellis C. Johnson's court Tuesday morning of this week.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR DALY CITY

(By Al Gould)

The local baseball team scored another victory, Sunday, by defeating the Balboa A. C., 13 to 2, at the Club House diamond. "Lefty" Smith pitched a wonderful game, issued no walks and kept the hits well scattered. Two hits was the limit in any inning collected off his baffling delivery.

The local shortstop, Regis, excelled in the infield, completing many difficult plays without a slip up. He was closely followed in this division by his team mate, Kirby, who completed some wonderful chances at the hot corner.

Joe Albrecht, the local center fielder, chasing back to deep center on the dead run, speared Del Carlo's fly from the air and by a perfect throw to first doubled Howard for the feature play of the outfield division.

Bill Kirby, local third sacker, who has for the past two weeks been at the Sacramento rookie camp, captured the batting honors, accounting for five hits and two runs in five trips to the plate.

George Kondeff, his team mate, connected for three bingles and scored two runs in four attempts.

Next Sunday at noon the local team will take on the strong Rough Rider Cords nine at Harrison diamond.

DALY CITY A. C. WINS ONCE MORE

The Daly City A. C. nine won easily from the strong J. Thomas Cleaners, Sunday afternoon, at Aptos Park. The local boys proved to be too much for the Cleaners in the one sided affair.

Sam Lucia started the fireworks in the sixth frame, when he came up with a home run and this was followed by a barrage of hits.

The seventh inning proved the last of the Cleaners when Dave Johnson came to bat with bases loaded and a three and nothing count and put one over the right field fence for another home run.

The Daly City A. C. will play the next game at the high school diamond at 2:30 next Sunday afternoon.

Lewis says his pal took the coffee while he made his purchase.

The prisoner was traced through his automobile number. He was released on bail of $100.

(Catherine Foreman, Pub. Chmn.)

On Tuesday of this week eleven members of Daly City Unit No. 410 and two members of the post entertained Ward 4 at Fort Wiley with a card party. Cake and ice cream were served and many packages of cigarettes were given the boys on the fourth floor.

On the same date District President Catherine Foreman organized a new unit, fifteen members signing the charter application for Noe Valley Unit No. 522.

The meeting on Wednesday was a birthday party and a most successful party it was. Each of the past presidents was presented with a beautiful corsage. The birthday cake was made by Past President Julia Jordan. The committee in charge of refreshments and tabe decorations are to be complimented.

Don't forget County Council tonight in Redwood City.

The next whist is on March 12.

The First Aid class meets on Monday next at 7 p. m. in Legion Hall.

The next regular meeting will be for initiation of new members.

"How different from an ordinary lamp," you will say when you examine one of the new Sight Saving lamps.

It is different of course. Its advanced principle of design means better light and better light means a new measure of comfort and protection when reading, sewing or doing other visual work.

Best of all, the Sight Meter, that scientific instrument for measuring light, shows that the new Better Light lamps give 20 to 30 footcandles of light—the correct amount for normal reading or study. This is several times as much useful light as you get from an ordinary lamp.

Good light costs less today than ever before. Electricity is cheap — especially so with ½ OFF on EXTRA electricity now available to you each month throughout 1935.

EVIL IS CONTAGIOUS

There is no sort of wrong deed of which a man can bear the punishment alone: you can't isolate yourself and say that the evil that is in you shall not spread. Men's lives are as thoroughly blended with each other as the air they breathe: evil spreads as necessarily as disease.—George Eliot.

CONSTIPATION Can be Helped!

(Use what Doctors do)

Why do the bowels usually move regularly and thoroughly, long after a physician has given you treatment for constipation?

Because the doctor gives a liquid laxative that can always be taken in the right amount. You can gradually reduce the dose. Reduced dosage is the secret of real and safe relief from constipation.

Ask your doctor about this. Ask your druggist how popular liquid laxatives have become. The right liquid laxative gives the right kind of help, and the right amount of help. When the dose is repeated, instead of more each time, you take less. Until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

The liquid laxative generally used is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It contains senna and cascara, and these are natural laxatives that form no habit — even in children. Your druggist has it; ask for—

SYNOPSIS

Theodore Gatlin adopts a baby, "Penelope," in an effort to solve his matrimonial troubles. But his wife has never wanted her, and their affairs end in the divorce court. At a baseball game a ball strikes ten-year-old Penelope on the nose. Mrs. Gatlin spirits the child to Europe. Gatlin wills Penelope all his money, and is about to begin a search for her when a motor accident ends his life. Some ten years later, in San Francisco, Stephen Burt, rising young psychiatrist, is presented by Dan McNamara, chief of police, with a new patient—Nance Belden, a girl with a dual personality, for which her "saddle nose" is in part responsible. McNamara does not think she is a criminal and obtains Burt's testimony in court. Lanny, the doctor's office nurse, is also won over. Nance's criminal record outweighs Doctor Burt's explanation of her case and she is sent to San Quentin penitentiary. Lanny visits her and Nance persuades her to smuggle out a letter, which a confederate of Nance steals. Nance escapes, although shot, and goes to Lanny's apartment. From one of the men in the boat on which the girl escaped McNamara learns that Nance's real name is Penelope Gatlin

Flynn and Angelloti needed no second invitation. They searched the house thoroughly and returned to the little drawing room to finish their drinks.

"You've taken her away," Flynn charged. "Where did you take her?"

"If you're such good detectives, go find her." Lanny was getting her courage back again. "She did come here, but I wasn't fool enough to receive her. She came in a car with two men and she did faint in my hallway and lie there for a little while. Of course she expected—why, I can't imagine—that I'd hide her and nurse her. But she's neither a friend nor a relative of mine; she met me once in Doctor Burt's office where I am employed and took a liking to me—in her funny way. She's a psycho-neurotic personality. She wrote me, asking me to call upon her, and I did—like a fool—because I felt sorry for her. She should be in a sanitarium, not a jail."

"Who brought her to Doctor Burt's office?"

"Chief McNamara."

Messrs. Flynn and Angelloti sat up. They glanced slowly at each other. "The old man's been up to his old tricks again," said Flynn. "What became of Nance Belden after you refused to receive her?"

"She left in the automobile." Lanny was careful not to state which automobile or whose.

"You're an accessory to her escape. It was your duty, as a citizen, to hold her here, telephone police headquarters and have her taken down to the emergency hospital for treatment. You can go to the pen for this."

"Get out of my house," Lanny commanded fiercely.

"Sure, but you come with us." Thus Angelloti.

"You can't arrest me without a warrant."

"I said before, you ain't such a good lawyer. We can always pick up anybody that carries a gun without a permit. Into your hat and coat, Miss Lanning, and come with us."

"I'll telephone my lawyer and then go with you," said Lanny with dignity.

"Nothing doing," Flynn declared firmly.

"You two dare lay hands on me and I'll have you both broke, understand. Be careful. Call up Chief McNamara before you get fresh with me. The telephone is in the kitchen."

Flynn went into the kitchen and called up Dan McNamara. He was much subdued upon his return, and Lanny smiled. "We'll get you yet," he growled. "You must have a drag with the chief. He's pulled us off the case. Good night."

When they had gone, Lanny put out the hall light and watched them from behind the door curtain. They crossed the street to their car, climbed in and settled down for an all-night vigil—at least so Lanny decided.

So she dragged the hall runner into the kitchen, scrubbed the bloody spot thoroughly and dried it over the gas stove, reviling herself the while.

To the surprise of the machine gunner, Chief Dan McNamara did not ask him a single personal question—not even his name. Nor did he question him regarding his wounded friend. He and the chief partook of a breakfast which the Tommy man prepared and discussed marksmanship, wounds, battles and sudden death. As the chief was leaving, he gave the machine gunner a list of tradesmen who supplied his house, and told him to telephone his orders; when delivery was made, they were to be left on a table in the basement.

"And don't you answer the telephone and don't show yourself outside or near the front windows," he warned.

The fellow nodded. "By the way, Chief, what's going to become of that speed boat? It belongs to Nance. She bought it for forty-five hundred dollars."

McNamara sat down and looked his amazement. "She paid forty-five hundred dollars for that boat—and yet she was doing time for pinching silk stockings? I don't like to ask you any questions you might be embarrassed to answer, boy, but today will be a total loss to me unless I find out where she keeps her bank roll."

"That's Nance's business an' I'll not discuss it. She sent the check out in the letter outlinin' her plan of escape."

"Who received the letter?"

"A friend who showed it to us—and we decided to help Nance out. We both owed her a debt we couldn't see no other way of payin'."

"But didn't you figure out the risks?"

"Sure—an' discounted 'em. Machine-gun fire ain't no new thing to us. We figured them guards wasn't top-notch machine gunners anyhow—that is, at long ranges. They never expect to have to do anything but close-range work; they know how to handle their guns, but they don't have their regular periods of target practice on the range, like a soldier does. In our boat, headed straight away from the fire at forty-five miles an hour, it would take an expert to get on us. An' they wouldn't know for sure whether we were accomplices or not until Nance reached the boat and we started pullin' her in; then, of course, they'd let us have it. But their first bursts on the boat were just as liable to be overs and shorts and we'd have the girl aboard before they could correct.

"There were eight other boats in the cove. Six of 'em was in our pay an' they was strung along in a line, so close together that as we run down the line o' them the guards would hold their fire for fear o' riddlin' innocent parties.

"An' we had another advantage. That speed boat throws a wide white bow wave, an' the water for fifty feet behind her and twenty feet on each side is a smother of foam when she's doing her stuff—bullets couldn't throw up any water that could be seen from a distance in the big spray. When you're machine gunnin' a fast movin' target, you got to see where your shots are droppin' if you're goin' to correct your range fast an' accurately. Then we had another advantage. The guards are in a watch tower on a hill or a high wall an' the early ranges they'd be firin' down hill. Even the work of an expert gunner, firin' at a down angle, goes off considerable. The cockpit was lined with steel, so after the boy friend got Nance aboard, they flopped and were safe. The only trouble was that the edge of one burst got Cates before he could flop. The front cockpit was steel-lined, too."

The man grinned sheepishly. "I wouldn't take that chance again, Chief. Those gunners were better than we figured them."

"You're both men after my own heart. Well, take good care of your friends. I've got to be on the job till midnight tonight."

"How long you goin' to keep us here?"

"You can bet your sweet life it won't be very long. You're too dangerous to me."

In his official car, driven by a policeman chauffeur, McNamara motored down to central station, where he immediately sent upstairs for Nance Belden's record and photographs and proceeded to San Quentin.

"Did that Belden girl who escaped yesterday leave anything in her cell? Letters, photographs?" he asked the warden.

"I've been in such a stew over her escape I haven't thought of investigating that angle," the warden confessed.

Ten minutes later he was in the cell, carefully looking over the clothing Nance Belden had left behind her. On a slip he found a small, cloth-covered metal tag, such as dry cleaners clamp on garments to identify them. This tag bore the initials "N. B." Inside and just below the collar of a worn tailored suit he found the silk tag which tailors sew into the garments they manufacture. This tag carried the name of "I. Abrahams, Ladies' Tailor, 314 San Fernando avenue, San Jose."

He snipped this tag out of the coat and rummaged through a suitcase under the bed. It contained a deck of playing cards, some clothing which yielded no clues and a blank check of the Security Trust company, of San Jose.

"Nothing of interest in the girl's abandoned effects," he reported to the warden. "By the way, I want to have a chin-chin with one of your prisoners —Benny Beetle, Number 41,322."

"Will you do me a favor, Benny?" the chief asked him when he came in.

"Only one, Dan? I owe you three."

"We'll forget the other two and collect on one. Do you know the good conduct prisoner who works in the identification bureau?"

The Beetle nodded.

"Know anybody whose time is up shortly?"

"My cell-mate."

"If he could bring me word that the photographs, fingerprints and Bertillon measurements of Nance Belden—remember that name?—have mysteriously disappeared, I'd be inclined to be his friend if he got into a jam later on and it wasn't too serious."

"I'll do what I can for you, Chief. I'll ask Bender. He's assistant to the file clerk."

"See him in the mess-hall at noon. And see somebody in the prison print shop. They're probably running off placards to send to all the postmasters in the state. That's where they advertise for escaped prisoners—in post office lobbies. Can't let those placards with the halftone photos and Bertillon measurements get out, you know. Good-by, Benny and thanks a lot."

From San Quentin Dan McNamara motored down to San Jose and called upon I. Abrahams, ladies' tailor.

"Mr. Abrahams, have you ever made a tailored suit for a girl with a nose that something has smashed flat in the middle?"

"Sure I have," Abrahams replied. "You mean Miss Penelope Gatlin, don't you?"

Abrahams looked in his card index cabinet, then opened a large book in which he kept his customers' measurements recorded, together with a sample of the cloth from which each order has been cut. Dan McNamara unhesitatingly placed his finger on one of these samples. "That was the cloth."

"Sure, that was the suit I made for Miss Gatlin two years ago,"

"Did Miss Gatlin live in this city? If so, I'd like to have her address."

Ten minutes later, McNamara was pressing the bell at the door of the house in South Mariposa street.

"Does Miss Gatlin live here?" he queried.

"Not any more. She used to live here with her mother, but she disappeared about two years ago, and her mother sold this house to the lady I work for."

"Where is Mrs. Gatlin now?"

"We don't know."

"Thank you," and McNamara directed his driver to go to the Security Trust company, where he sent his card in to the president. He was received promptly.

CHAPTER VI

"Do you happen to have an account in the name of Penelope Gatlin?" Chief McNamara asked the banker.

"Both a trust account and a checking account, Chief. We had her father's account for years before he was unfortunately killed in an automobile accident some eight years ago. We had the account of his divorced wife for quite a while, too, but she has closed that."

"Do you know where she lives at present?"

"I do not." He was interested. "But I remember her quite well—a very beautiful woman. Her first husband was a splendid chap—retail shoe dealer in this city, and very prosperous. He and his wife had a row and she divorced him and got the child. Gatlin was permitted by the court to have the child on two Sunday afternoons a month, and one day he took her to a ball game and they sat in the bleachers. A long hard ball flew into the bleachers and flattened the little girl's nose; Gatlin rushed the unconscious child to a hospital and his ex-wife came and took her home before anything but emergency treatment could be given. Gatlin suspected she was going to try to cure that ruined nose by prayer—so he kidnaped the child, was caught, arrested, and did sixty days in the county jail.

"While he was in jail Mrs. Gatlin fled to Europe with the little girl, and Gatlin was desolated. Subsequently Gatlin sold out his business, made most of his estate liquid and established a trust with us in favor of himself and his daughter. He had made a settlement with Mrs. Gatlin.

"When his wife fled to Europe with the child, Gatlin ceased to deposit the monthly check to her credit, in the belief that she'd write to know why. She didn't, but in some other manner he located her, and started for Europe with the intention of stealing the little girl from her. On the way to the station, an automobile hit the taxi he was in and Gatlin was killed."

"Did he leave a will?"

"He did. His daughter was his sole beneficiary. We were the executors and probated it. There was the ten thousand dollar letter of credit he had purchased just before starting on his fatal trip, and half a dozen pieces of city realty, which has since increased enormously in value. We advertised for the heir but received no answer, so the estate was closed and we handle it now, as trustee."

"How do you know Mrs. Gatlin has become Mrs. Merton?"

The Left-Handed Child

Many scientists feel that forcing a left-handed child to use its right hand for writing and other purposes will cause him to be slow-minded and irritated and may cause such nervous orders as stuttering.

CALIFORNIA News of the Week

"There need be no fear of an immediate shutdown on California SERA projects," declared Frank Y. McLaughlin, state SERA administrator, as a preface to the reorganization of the relief administration's budget. These budget changes have been made necessary because of a reduced allotment of funds from Washington. Instead of the $15,000,000 asked for to carry on the March program, only $9,000,000 was granted. At a special meeting of the SERA, the program for this month was curtailed 20 per cent.

Investigations are being made of the physical, mental and social defectives of Tulare County to see if conditions there warrant the establishment of a special school for the handicapped. County Superintendent Driggers has proposed the building of the school, using SERA labor. Such an institution would endeavor to fit handicapped people to better meet the demands of the present social and economic life.

The first pedestrian to be jailed in southern California's drive against traffic accidents was Joseph Lanza of Los Angeles, sentenced to serve one day in jail in lieu of a $5 fine. He was charged with crossing Third and Main streets against the signal. An effective feature of the traffic drive has been to sentence violators to walk through the county morgue as part of their punishment.

California employment is definitely on the uptrend, according to Edward L. Nolan, state labor commissioner, who reports that 118,454 persons were employed in this state during January, 1935, and only 109,898 in the same month for 1934. These figures were totaled from payrolls of 998 representative manufacturing establishments, and marked a payroll increase of 18.3 per cent. Largest gains were registered in the motion picture industry, leather and rubber goods business and textile and chemical manufacturing.

The trial of 17 communists, charged with criminal syndicalism, continues in Judge Lemmon's court at Sacramento. Altercations between the judge and the defense attorney have aroused much spectator-interest. Recently Defense Attorney Leo Gallagher declared that it was not a crime for him to say that America would enjoy a revolution in the near future. "There would be a revolution if you had your way about it," declared Deputy Prosecutor Chris Johnson.

La Habra, Orange County, has sent information to FERA headquarters at Washington concerning a proposed new library for the city. Under the relief program, the administration is seeking information as to the possibilities of each community. If the project is approved, the government will pay for labor and 25 per cent of the material costs.

On February 27 "Auntie" Guthrie, known throughout the Sacramento Valley, celebrated her 100th birthday. She came to California in 1855, being wounded en route in an attack by Indians in which several members of the wagon train were killed. She resides at Davis and her birthday celebration there was a community event, with 200 guests attending her party.

Almost 3000 miles of highway improvements in 19 months. This is the record of the California State Division of Highways, according to George T. McCoy, assistant highway engineer. "The current biennium has seen the greatest activity in highway construction in the state's history," he declared.

Ray L. Riley, state controller and chairman of the Board of Equalization, arrived at San Diego the other day, promising to "show these fellows the greatest drive against bootlegging they've seen since the repeal of prohibition." His coming was an aftermath of a long liquor war, resulting in the transfer of one administrator and the discharge of another.

The fact that the United States has passed the McNary bill, authorizing expenditures of $2,000,000 in Alaska for road construction work from Dawson to the border, has aroused interest in California. The money is for construction of the International Pacific Highway, a road stretching from Alaska through Canada, through California and on down into South America. Californians are endorsing the program, since nearly 1000 miles of the highway will extend through this state.

Buron Fitts, Los Angeles district attorney, has petitioned the State Supreme Court for a writ of prohibition to prevent the Superior Court from further proceedings in his case, involving accusations growing out of the famous Pantages-Mills scandal trials of three years ago. He was indicted by the Grand Jury last December.

Paralyzed from the neck down from infantile paralysis, Raymond Rambo, 17, of Alameda, has established what is believed to be a nation-wide record for staying in an artificial respirator. The mechanical lung has meant life to him for over 300 days.

Travel on southern California highways has been slowed down several times lately due to heavy smudging in orange grove districts. The smudge smoke made necessary by low temperatures, drifted over roads like a heavy fog

House Frock on Coat-Like Lines

PATTERN 9165

Here's a house frock that's not only slenderizing and trim because of its coat-like lines—but essentially practical at the same time. For it's the sort of smart affair that you can slip into quickly—just three buttons to fasten—and be sure of looking your housewifely best! As every figure-conscious woman knows, long panels sweeping from hem to shoulder, back and front, create an illusion of slenderness—and those pert revers add a nice clean-cut look to the whole frock. Of course, one of the best points about this model is that it may be spread out and ironed flat. Choose printed percale, broadcloth or gingham for it!

Pattern 9165 may be ordered only in sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46. Size 36 requires 4⅜ yards 36 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for EACH pattern. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, the STYLE NUMBER and SIZE of each pattern.

Complete, diagrammed sew chart included.

Send your order to Sewing Circle Pattern Department, 232 West Eighteenth street, New York.

AFFABLE BROKER

"What kind of money do you prefer?"

"I'm not fastidious," answered Mr. Dustin Stax. "What kind have you?"

Fallacies

"They are getting fallacies even into nursery rhymes," said Farmer Corntossel.

"It's as serious as that?"

"Yes, sir. When you're ordered to kill off porkers, what excuse is there for saying, 'This little pig went to market'?"

Natural Effect

The accused had just been convicted of bigamy, and the judge asked, "Have you anything to say?"

"No, not a word," was the sullen reply.

"It's hardly likely," mused the judge. "A man with two wives would never get a chance."—Stray Stories.

WAR VETERANS' NATIONAL HOME

(Jas. H. Cilfton, Publicity Chairman)

The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States had a three-fold program which comprises Americanism, Veteran Rehabilitation and Child Welfare.

One of the most important phases of our nation-wide child welfare is the V. F. W. National Home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, which is an unique project fulfilling, we believe, a need for which there is no other provision.

Since the Armistice of November, 1918, thre has been little or no effort on the part of the United States government itself to provide for the care and welfare of the widows and orphans of our World War honored dead. Realizing the debt the citizens of this country owe to the women and children whose homes were broken and lives saddened by the loss of their husbands and fathers, the members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States have gladly assumed a stewardship over these families of their former comrades.

The V. F. W. National Home was founded in 1925 on a tract of approximately 600 acres of rolling Michigan farm land, near the town of Eaton Rapids. Here, in a beautiful natural setting, a "city of children" has been developed. At the present time, approximately 125 orphaned children of deceased veterans are being cared for under the V. F. W. child welfare program.

The word "home" is particularly appropriate for this V. F. W. project. It is a "home" in the sense that your own household is a home. There is no suggestion whatever of an "institutional" atmosphere. A score of houses, each individually designed and built, are occupied by family groups of from five to six to never more than ten or eleven boys and girls all under the watchful care of a "house mother." There is not a sign of a uniform in the place. Sally Law's frocks and Tommy's shirts and ties are individually selected. Each child's preferences and special needs in the way of food, recreation, exercise and other matters are individually considered. Frequently a real brother and sister are members of the same home "family," for every effort is made to preserve natural family ties. The "house mothers" are carefully chosen, not only for their ability and experience, but for their motherly and affectionate qualities.

The V. F. W. National Home is a special pride and responsibility of the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. Every penny of the cost of its establishment was contributed through the activities of the individual members and unit groups of our organization. Various V. F. W. state departments have purchased a number of the houses and additional units are being planned by other state groups. The Ladies Auxiliary recently purchased and equipped a beautiful $35,000 hospital unit, where the finest of up-to-date medical treatment is provided the children of the home. The best educational facilities available are afforded the children of school age, school buses conveying them to and from the grade and high schools of Eaton Rapids each school day. Until they reach the age of maturity, these sons and daughters of men who gave their lives or sacrificed their health and their independence in defense of the United States of America are assured of a home and protection. In addition, they are being trained for independence and self-support by the time they reach maturity.

To date, this undertaking has enjoyed steady and gratifying development. The work has been carried on since 1925, quietly and without ostentation or ballyhoo. There has been no attempt to commercialize on the memory of our honored soldier dead beyond our desire to acquaint the general public with the manner in which a portion of the funds it contributes through the purchase of Buddy Poppies each year, goes toward the maintenance of this project. One penny from each Buddy Poppy sold annually is diverted to the V. F. W. national home for its support and continued development. Through the activities of our National Americanization Department, and its sale of historical volumes, another source of income for the national home has been created. All other funds necessary for its maintenance have come from within the organization itself, in the form of life membership and contributions.

The V. F. W. national home at Eaton Rapids, Michigan, has become a major objective in a relief program being sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. It will always continue as such in accord with the V. F. W. principle that seeks to honor the dead by helping the living.

Another Brake Test

The motorist with an acute "feel" of his car can make the accelerator an agency for checking a new brake adjustment, states the director of roadside service of the National Automobile Club.

If the brakes are too tightly adjusted, it will show up first in the form of requiring extra pressure on the accelerator to obtain a given standard of power, speed or acceleration performance.

SOME QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Some Little Known Matters That Should Prove of General Interest

(By Maude Larue Ives)

Question: Who is United States Minister to Switzerland?

Answer: Hugh R. Wilson.

Question: What are some of the privileges and immunities enjoyed by diplomatic representatives?

Answer: (1) Exemption of the person of the minister from local jurisdiction, civil and criminal. In other words, he is not liable to arrest for any reason what ever, an exemption shared to a certain extent by his family and suite.

(2) Inviobility of his residence, papers and effects from any search or seizure.

(3) Exemption of his personal belongings from taxation.

(4) Entire freedom of worship for himself and his suite.

Question: Was Martin Luther happy in his home life?

Answer: Yes. He married Catherine von Bora, daughter of a noble, but improverished, family of Meissen. The household at Wittenberg, in which, besides the parents, three sons and two daughters had their residence, also included Catherine's aunt, two orphan nieces and a grand niece. Catherine was a devoted wife and a woman of resource and energy, and not merely just a "hausfrau." Luther esteemed her intelligence highly, and consulted her on all important matters.

Question: What books were written by Thomas Dixon, Jr.

Answer: "Leopard Spots," frankly dealing with the negro question; "The One Woman," a story dealing with the divorce problem. "The Clansman," picturing conditions in part of the South under the domination of the negroes and carpetbaggers during the Reconstruction period: "The Sins of the Fathers," a gripping human interest story, which was dramatized and in which Dixon played the leading part. "The Southerner;" "The Victim," a romance of the real Jefferson Davis, and "The Foolish Virgin." Among later books are "The Man in Gray" and "The Black Hood." "Leopard Spots" and "The Clansman" have also been dramatized in the stirring moving picture under the title of "The Birth of a Nation."

Question: What is the difference between a daffodil and jonquil?

Answer: The daffodil bears a long yellow tube with a crinkly edge, surrounded at the base by long yellow petals, giving the flower a double appearance.

Jonquills are much like the daffodils, except that at the base of the tube there is only a single row of usually five petals—giving the flower a single appearance.

TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

(Lesley M. Hill, Pub. Chmn.)

Daly City Post No. 410 will celebrate its fourth anniversary at the next regular meeting. Our temporary charter was issued March 2, 1931.

Daly City Post No. 410 has shown a steady growth since its inception. Among our achievements are: Purchasing our own club house; a district commander and a county council commander have been elected from our post and one of our members has been district publicity chairman for the past two years. In 1933 we won the $100 prize for the larest percentage gain in membership in the department. We have taken an active interest in the public schools and have endeavored to encourage the youth of our city through our school awards. Our junior baseball program has given the boys of Daly City an opportunity to develop their athletic abilities and sportsmanship.

At present we are organizing a squadron of the Sons of the American Legion, and a First Aid Team.

A social is planned for the next regular meeting on Wednesday of next week at 8 p. m. The meeting will adjourn at 9 p. m. Bring your wife and eligible veterans. The social committee promises a birthday party which will long be remembered.

At our last meeting Commander Trier presented Victory Stars to the Junior Auxiliary. Refreshments followed the business session.

The San Mateo County Council met in Legion Hall last Friday. Plans are being made for participating in the 1935 department convention to be held in Fresno. The next council meeting will be held in Redwood City on Friday, April 5.

Reserve Saturday night, March 16, for our next Midmonth Revue. Comrade Harry Andersen will be master of ceremonies and an entirely different type of floor show will be presented.

Tomorrow evening Bay View Post No. 502 will celebrate its first anniversary with a pageant and dance in the auditorium of the San Francisco War Memorial. Tickets may be secured from the post or Comrade Hill.

Noe Valley Post No. 522 is the latest addition to the Eighth District. Their officers were installed Thursday, February 28. At present the post meets in St. Paul's School at Twenty-ninth and Church streets.

LESSON SERMON OF CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

In all Christian Science churches, branches of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., a Lesson-Sermon will be read Sunday, March 10, on the subject "Man."

The Golden Text will be: "The steps of a good man are ordered by the Lord: and he delighteth in his way" (Psalms 37:23). Bible selections will include the following passage from Isaiah 43: 6, 7, "I will say to the north, Give up; and to the south, Keep not back; bring my sons from far, and my daughters from the ends of the earth; Even every one that is called my name; for I have created him for my glory, I have formed him; yea, I have made him."

A passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures, by Mary Baker Eddy, will also be included, which reads as follows: "In Science man is the offspring of Spirit. The beautiful, good, and pure constitute his ancestry. His origin is not, like that of mortals, in brute instinct, nor does he pass through material conditions prior to reaching intelligence. Spirit is his primitive and ultimate source of being; God is his Father, and Life is the law of his being" (p. 63.)

Stop For White Cane

Many motorists are not giving proper consideration to the blind carriers of the white cane. It is possible that they are not aware that the canes are as commanding a stop sign as any other traffic signal, states the public safety department of the National Automobile Club.

Drivers should give the way to those unfortunate who have enough to bear without the added injury possible from the motorist.

KEEPING PACE WITH DALY CITY

Everywhere you turn in Daly City one can see signs of activity and the local church, Grace Church of the Nazarene, is in step with the rest of the city.

The church is looking very much improved with the shrubbery around it and very shortly there will be a lawn also. They are excavating the basement to make more class rooms to accommodate the ever growing Sunday school.

The next step the church is planning is to paint the outside of the building. Some help and paint has been promised and with some more aid it will not be long until this will also be accomplished. Just recently they finished tinting the inside of the building.

Rev. J. M. Gill, the pastor, was unanimously recalled to the pastorate for a term of three years by the local congregation at a vote taken recently. Rev. Gill, ably assisted by his talented wife, is building a good work here in Daly City.

The church invites one and all to make this church their church and when in need to call for the pastoral services of the pastor. It is the desire of pastor and people to serve the community in every way possible.

MIGHT CONTAMINATE

Girl golf caddies have been banned by an ordinance passed by the city council of Lachine, Quebec, the employment of girls in that capacity having been declared "immoral" by Judge Robillard of the juvenile court. Golf language of our northern neighbors must be bad as our own.

MEMORY OF EDISON

A monument to Thomas A. Edison was recently unveiled at the Iwashimizu shrine in Japan. It was from bamboo grown near this shrine that Edison made the filaments first used in the development of the incandescent lamp some 55 years ago.

BUSINESS BRIEFS

The St. Louis Shoe Manufacturer's Association estimated, from a survey of key plants, that the shoe output from that city was 20 per cent ahead of this same season last year. The association reports no unemployment among skilled workers in the district.

Electric power production according to the New York Times Weekly Business Index, for the week ended February 9, was only one per cent below the highest production ever recorded for the comparable period, and almost seven per cent over the week for 1934.

Automobiles are being sold as fast as made, report leading manufacturers. Dealers' stocks are abnormally low. February schedules ,according to Business Week, call for 375,000 units against the demand for 306,000 units for January.

Commercial failures continued to decline last week to 64.6 points according to the weekly survey of the Department of Commerce. This is 1.2 points below the index figure for the week ended February 2, and 6.9 points below the same week of 1934.

Steel production for last week according to the same source moved sideways, continuing operations at about 55 per cent of capacity.

Freight carloadings increased 3.3 percent for the week ended February 16, over the comparable week of last year, reports the New York Times A decrease of less than one per cent under the figure for the preceding week was due to retarded movements in grain, livestock and coke.

Thus far this year orders in the plumbing trade averageing 20 per cent to 35 per cent above those for the comparable period of 1934, according to Dun & Bradstreet, Inc. Many manufacturers have adopted the highest schedules in six years and report employment at the highest since 1930.

An increase of 6.47 per cent in total dollar sales of twenty-four merchandising chains during the month of January over the same period of 1934, is reported by Merrill, Lynch & Co. Total sales for these companies last month was $151,006,916, compared with $141,831,776 in January, 1934.

Bank debits reported by the Federal Reserve Board for the 141 reporting cities, recorded a total of five billion 635 millions for the week ended Feb. 13, compared to five billion 482 millions for the same week last year. This is almost a 2.8 per cent gain.

Reports from various corporations dealing in fruit, automobiles, steel and rubber show sharp increases in the earnings for 1934, over preceding years. Retail clothes sales for last week increaesd, according to survey by Kirby, Block & Co., and there is activity towards heavy spring selling.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE WEEK

Building Trades Agreement: An agreement was signed a few days ago by all the international building trades unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor to settle jurisdictional disputes through available facilities set up in the Planning and Adjustment Board of the Construction Industry Code. Division Administrator Berry, of the NRA, states that the agreement gives "assurance to private industry that peace, as far as jurisdictional disputes are concerned, is guaranteed." Mr. Berry accepts the agreement as a step toward the time when all differences between industry and labor will be considered to fall within the possibilities of arbitration machinery.

Steel Wage Rates Increase: Employees' earnings in the steel industry are approximately $100,000,000 higher than they would have been on the basis prevailing before code wages went into effect. Statistics required by the code show that in September, 1934, when production reached its lowest level under the code, there were 43,683 more employees than in June, 1933. The eight hour day and forty hour week has increased the number of workers, while the code pay provisions have advanced wages. offsetting reduced hours.

Codes To Increase Pay: Wage increases for approximately 25,000 workers in the paper and pulp industry will result from a code amendment just approved by the President. The NIRB has also approved an amendment providing for better pay in the paper bag field, benefiting 3000 workers. The increases not only apply to the minimum wages paid in the productive field, but advance the pay of office workers as well.

Wage Restoration Total Mounts: It is estimated that the total wake restorations arranged for by NRA field offices and the newly organized regional compliance councils has now reached $3,152,103. Figures were not formally tabulated in the first year of NRA, but the estimate for the restitutions in that period is one million dollars. A formal record has been kept since June 16, 1934, and the number of workers benefited was 87,-922.

..Upholds Cotton Picking Minimum: The Industrial Appeals Board has checked an attempt to develop a new minimum wage of 10c an hour under the Cotton Pickery Code. The minimum set in the code is 18c an hour which is for women workers. D. Nachman & Co., of Augusta, Ga., told the NRA last December that it could not afford to pay 18c an hour and asked for a 10 cent rate. Division Administrator Riley refused and the company appealed. In handing down its decision, the board said that the company was required to show that it was an unfair competitive position through no fault of its own. The appellant could not prove that this was the case nor could it show inability to mechanize its plant and thus effect a considerable saving. Failing to save through mechanical changes, it had no grounds to ask for the right to effect savings through wage reductions.

Code Cost To Industry: Accounting experts estimate that coded industries pay for code admininstration 10-65ths of 1 per cent of the volume of their sales. This yields a total of $41,400,000 a year. The investigation was conducted by Hiram S. Brown, NRA budget director. The figures are not final and the indications are that the total will be reduced when complete organizations are formed under the codes. Exact estimates are difficult to make, as code assessments are not all the same. However, for 352 budgets, it was readily ascertained that the assessment amounted to 1-19th of 1 per cent of the annual sales volume, making the cost of code administration $38,118,000 for coded industries doing a business of $70,-380,000,000 a year. Only fourteen budgets provided for an expense as high as 1 per cent of the annual sales volume, or more.

Forest Preservation Rules: A long step forward in the plans for saving American forests from fire, insects and disease has just been taken. The western division of the hardwood distillation industry has submitted to the NRA rules whereby owners and operators of woodlands may co-operate with the forest service and other public agencies in protecting the forests and providing for the regrowth of timber. The rules, when approved, will be added to the code provisions. The southern and eastern divisions are expected to have their rules drafted soon.

Knitted Outerwear Homework Commission: A short time ago, the NIRB decided to allow homework in hand-knitting operations until April 1, though the code of the Knitted Outerwear Industry provides for its elimination. Under some conditions, employment and wages were found to be improved through homework and the code authority asked that it be permitted to a limited extent. The NIRB has appointed W. H. Dillingham, of the NRA Division of Research and Planning; Rose Scheiderman, president of the National Women's Trade Union League of America, and R. H. Lhowe, executive director of the code authority, to report by April 1, on the most practical method of enforcing homework provisions. Thousands of workers are affected.

Handkerchief Homework Commission: Can women engaged in some form of handwork get along better at home or in shops and factories? The answer to this question seems less simple now than when it was raised at the time of the formation of codes. Several industries are gathering data to prove their contention that the rules prohibiting homework should be further relaxed. A commission has been formed to report within a month on the advisability of allowing handkerchiefs to be embroidered in homes. The body is headed by Charles Green, of the International Ladies' Garment Workers Union.

Label Amendment To Art Needlework Code: The NIRB approved an amendment to the Arts Needlework Code making the use of NRA labels mandatory beginning May 1. Other amendments provide for 64 hours overtime in the calendar year and for the advisability of reports and necessary data for code administration. A homework committee of four, including two industry representatives — one from the stamped goods division, one from the yarn division and two governmental representatives — one from Research and Planning and one from the Labor Advisory Board, is required to prepore a schedule of wage rates for homeworkers in finishing samples and display models not for resale.

LOCAL DEALER OPTIMISTIC OVER TRADE UPTREND

Radiating optimism and generating enthusiasm, A. J. Bertini, local Ford dealer, returned recently from San Francisco, where he attended the annual sales convention of Ford dealers operating in Northern California, western Nevada, southern Oregon and the Hawaiian Islands, the vast area under the Ford Motor Company Richmond, California branch. The entire Richmond branch territory was represented at the merchandising conclave, according to Mr. Bertini, and he says it was one of the most enthusiastic gatherings of its kind ever held in the West.

W. C. Cowling, director of sales for Ford Motor Company, was the outstanding figure at the convention, the local dealer reports. The sales chief, direct from Ford headquarters at Dearborn, Mich., told the assembled dealers that business conditions throughout the country are on the upswing, asserting that the brighter business outlook is not a "flash in the pan," as all indications point to its permanency.

"Also, the director of Ford sales told us that the business outlook is not only bright for our line, but it is exceedingly bright for other lines in the automotive industry and for other industries, too," said Mr. Bertini. "We of the Ford dealer forces know that W. C. Cowling would not make a statement regarding business unless he was convinced that facts justified his words. He has obtained first-hand information by personal contact with business and industrial leaders from coast-to-coast, and he is satisfied by all visible signs that business is permanently on the up grade."

The local Ford dealer says that cold figures bear out Mr. Cowling's assertion that business is better. He says that a year ago Ford had eight assembly plants in operation, while now there are fifteen assembly branches running at top speed and producing more than 5000 cars a day.

"In January, Ford production totalled more than 101,000 units," Mr. Bertini announced, "and business this month has gone far ahead of the January figure. Therefore, we of the Ford forces are confident that we will reach the goal of 1,000,000 and more cars for the year as set for us by Henry Ford early last November."

It was reported that the Richmond Ford plant is now producing close to 400 cars a day, with 2400 men on the payroll. This fact alone, is a sign of better business conditions, says Bertini, and one of the reasons for his optimism and confidence in the future.

Suspect The Battery

The battery often is responsible for those mysterious rattles which seem to emanate from beneath the car, according to the director of roadside service of the National Automobile Club.

Its hold-down bolts, like those elsewhere throughout the car, are subject to loosening. The noise resulting may vary from a rattle to a thump and, in both cases, frequently turns out to be extremely difficult to locate.

Hard Starting

If the engine is hard to sart and "bucks" at low speed, breaker points may be in need of adjustment.

Because of its nature this job should not be attempted by an inexperienced person.

STILL HOLD TO "BLACK MAGIC"

Many Evidently Keep Belief in Evil Forces.

Horace in ancient Greece wrote entertainingly of two witches in the Esqualine cemetery.

Pliny in ancient Rome wrote that laws were enacted "against injury to crops by fascination."

There were the Dark ages and "Black Magic."

Shakespeare wrote of Macbeth learning his fate from witches.

Time moved on. A new world was found. Then came Salem. And pious New England witch hunters read in Exodus "Thou shalt not suffer a witch to live," rolled up their sleeves and went to work.

The "enlightened centuries" with science and education came on. In the distant jungles voodoo drums beat and blood was offered in sacrifice. This, men said, happened only in distant places. Men were advancing, leaving behind old superstitions and tommyrot.

But from Pottsville, Pa., came a story of old beliefs lingering. It is a link in witchcraft, evil eyes and practices ordained by "the evil forces."

The story is this: Nineteen years ago, Susan Mummey told her husband she had a feeling he would not return from work. He never did. He was blown to bits in an explosion. The story grew into a superstitution, and from that into a murder.

A "pumpkin ball"—used in shotguns for killing deer—crashed through a window and killed sixty-four-year-old Susan Mummey. A twenty-four-year-old taxi driver, Albert Shinskey, told police "I feel like a reborn man because I've killed her. She had me hexed. She sent a black cat down from the skies."

Albert said a "pow-wow" doctor told him a chant which chased the cat away—the cat had been tearing at his side—but the "hex" lingered. So one night he took care of the "witch."

Mrs. Mummey had been ministering to a boarder when the shot crashed into the room, killing her. The boarder and Mrs. Mummey's daughter, Tuvella, cowered in a corner until daylight before calling police.

Thus in a manner of violence, indorsed through the ages, Shinsky disposed of "a witch." It has happened before in our "enlightened" day.

Drive through the hills of the "Pennsylvania Dutch" sections. One comes upon trim modern barns. But high on these barns are hung cabalistic, five-pointed stars surrounded by circles, swastikas and other mystic signs decreed to ward off evil.

"Of course we don't believe in such signs," the farmers will say with an embarrassed snicker. "They're against the evil eye. The painters thought they would look nice."

Nelson Rehmeyer of York, Pa., "a witch doctor," was slain by three youths seeking a lock of his hair to end a curse. Rehmeyer was accused of putting a spell on the Hess family.

It would appear that a strong current of witch fear flows through those hills. Esoteric mysticism, taught in the Middle ages, has been handed down in old wives' tales. The tales and lore were transplanted to the York valley by the settlers who came in Revolutionary days.

Keys were hung on backs to stop nose bleed. Strings tied to the dead had their "powers" and hairs from the head of the witch were invaluable.

Witch doctors appeared to release those who were "hexed." The doctors worked without fee because there was a power and glory in it for them.

"The Long Lost Friend," a compendium of magic, is guarded still in many farmhouses. In the Pennsylvania hills you do not have to seek far for a witch doctor.

Mrs. Mummey's and Rhemeyer's deaths are not the only ones. Verma Delp, 21 years old, died at Allentown, Pa., of three poisons, given to her as a mystic potion. Irving Heagy of York was shot by his wife. A witch doctor had told her that he had put "the evil eye" on her. Those things came to public attention.

And if such old beliefs and practices still seem too remote to Detroiters to be of this age there was the unsolved murder in 1929 of Benny Evangelista, his wife and their four children in their home at 3587 St. Aubin avenue. His headless body was found in a chair of his office surrounded by the strange symbols of the cult he founded. Detectives, in their investigation, uncovered copies of "The Long Lost Friend" in several Detroit homes. They found Evangelista's own bible, "The Oldest History of the World Discovered by Occult Science." Michigan within modern times has had several cases of murders committed because the victim was accused of having "an evil eye," casting spells or weaving charms.

In Africa the tom-toms beat and the awful witch doctor rules the jungle tribe. In Haiti, in the dark of the moon, lambs and sometimes, it is said, humans are sacrificed in barbaric rites.

And in Pennsylvania, Michigan, and even closer, in Detroit, strange practices come to light. There persists a tie between the man, called civilized, and the one termed savage.—James S. Pooler, in the Detroit Free Press.

WHEN THE DOCTOR SAYS YOU HAVE "TOO MUCH ACID"

Health, your doctor will tell you, is based on a delicate balance in the system between alkalinity and acidity. Modern day habits, especially the foods we eat, destroy this balance by creating excess acids. Watch for acid danger signals!

Guilty of these Every Day Habits?

Eat Too Much
Smoke Too Much
No Exercise
Late Hours

In the mouth acids attack enamel, bring tooth decay and bad breath. In the stomach they attack delicate linings and bring sick headaches, indigestion, gas and constipation, and often chronic disorders.

Neutralize excess acids at once with Milnesia Wafers—original Milk of Magnesia in tasty tablet form. One Wafer before bedtime, and the whole digestive system, from mouth and gums to intestines, is kept sweet and clean and clear of these harmful acids. Thousands of physicians now recommend Milnesia instead of old fashioned liquid Milk of Magnesia.

Economical, too! Each Milnesia package contains more Magnesium Hydroxide than all other liquid forms.

CROCKER TO MEET IN SAN FRANCISCO

The members of Crocker P. T. A. are reminded that the next meeting of the unit will be held in the Ann Welcome Lounge of the Call-Bulletin building on New Montgomery street between Mission and Market streets next Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Light refreshments will be served by Miss Welcome after the meeting.

Some of the ladies have decided that Tuesday would be a good day to go down town early and have lunch at Lucca's restaurant before the meeting. Anyone who wishes to do this will kindly get in touch with Mrs. Clifton, Delaware 6851, Mrs. Dorn, Delaware 1984, or Mrs. Gaitor, Randolph 0428, so that reservations may be made for everyone at the same table, also to find out at what time and in what place to meet so that we all can go together, and so there will be no delay in getting in the restaurant. Anyone who has been to Lucca's knows that you often have to wait in line unless you are there in plenty of time. Please get in touch with any one of the three ladies whose names are given here before next Monday night.

As Miss Ann Welcome has so kindly offered to let us have the use of her lounge as a meeting place, and as she furnished the refreshments with no expense to us, let us see how many ladies can be there to show her that we appreciate her kindness. As this month is "Home Service Month" Miss Welcome will speak to us along that line. Come and bring your friends as we want a good attendance.

COMMISSIONERS LOCAL FIREMEN JOINT MEETING

Make New Rules—Transact Large Volume Of Business

The Fire Commissioners and General Assembly of the Daly City Fire Department held their monthly meeting Monday night, March 4.

Chairman Forsell called the commissioners meeting to order. Reports from the chiefs were read and the monthly report from each station received.

The commissioners passed a ruling that no new members would be taken in the department over the age of 35 years, those that are already on the waiting list have until July 1 to be appointed. If not appointed by that time they will be dropped from the list.

Other routine business was disposed and the meeting adjourned until the first Monday in April.

Chief Chesney then called the General Assembly meeting to order.

A communication was received from the California State Firemens Association (of which 90 per cent of this department are members), calling attention to the different bills before the legislature which concerned the firemen of the state, and calling on all members to see their State Senators and Assemblymen help those favorable to pass and defeat others which would prove of no benefit to firemen.

A communication was received that had been prepared by the members of Station No. 5. It called on the department members to visit as many basements as possible in their districts and try to educate the citizens to clean up their places and eliminate the fire hazards, which the department knows we have too many of in Daly City.

In this regard we would like to call to the attention of the public that it is unlawful to store more than five gallons of gasoline exclusive of that in the tank, in any dwelling house. The same law pertains to coal oil and other combustible materials.

Watch your local paper for further bulletins, for by reading and living up to them, you will be helping your local firemen the same as they are striving to help you, says Chief A. Chesney.
